COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY EVENING, Nov. 30, 1880.

WITHDRAWALS of £175,000 from the Bank of England took place yesterday, but there is no indication of the general Money market being in any way affected, rates of discount being still unchanged. Consols were ⅛ lower at 100½, French Rentes unchanged at 119, Enfaced Rupee Paper ⅛ higher at 80⅝ for Fours and 88¼ for Fours-and-a-half.

Coffee and Cocoanut Oil continue unaltered. Linseed is reported quieter with a decline of 3d. per quarter in Calcutta to arrive via Cape. Rapeseed comes dull, and partially 6d. per quarter lower to arrive. What Reuter says is very depressed, and arrival prices are given 6d. to 1s. per quarter easier. The London Skin Sales opened yesterday with 1,360,000 offered. Goat Skins are reported slow of sale, and 1d. to 2d. per lb. lower. Metals continue as last quoted. Piece-goods in Manchester were firm but no change in rates is talked of.

The Liverpool Cotton market yesterday closed firm generally, but as regards Surats, strong. The day's sales were estimated at 14,000 bales, of which 2,000 were Surats, and Spot prices showed an advance of 1-16d. per lb. all round. Futures, however, were 1-32d. lower, this month's delivery being quoted at 6 25-32d., and March-April at 6⅝d. per lb. In New York yesterday ready Mid.-Uplands were unaltered at 12 cents, but February shipment had reached from 12·56 ts 12·38 cents per lb. The receipts at the U.S. ports to date give the following comparisons with the two previous seasons :—

	1880	1879	1878
Two days' Receipts	42,000	52,000	40,000
Three days' do.	81,000	81,000	67,000
Total since 1st Sept.	2,391,000	2,212,000	2,609,000

EXCHANGE.—Although Silver in London is unchanged at 51¾d. per oz., and rates from Calcutta show no material change from yesterday, a distinctly upward tendency has been apparent, and a practical advance of 1-16d. per rupee must be quoted. For distant delivery the rise, if anything, is a shade more, and there are no strong buyers, so that for the moment the market has all the appearance of having taken a decided upward turn. We have, however, had so many false alarms of this character, that sellers do not, apparently, attach any great importance to the movement, and as if buyers have been firm so have sellers. Possibly Money is yet too plentiful for any very material improvement in value of the rupee, but it must not be forgotten that not only have we had a very heavy fall, but we are rapidly working into what promises to be an unusually heavy export season, when a rise in rates must be expected, if such a thing is to come at all. To-morrow's biddings for Council drafts will, as usual, light us a little further on the way. Already we hear of 1s. 7 13-16d. as a probable average, and if such a figure is likely, the advance must go on. Closing quotations for ready bills are :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 7 23-32d.	per rupee.
Do. telegraphic	1s. 7 11-16d.	,,
Do. 3 months' sight,	1s. 7 13-16d.	,,
Credits, 3 ,, ,, ..	1s. 7 15-16d.	,,
Documents, 3 ,, ,, ..	1s. 7 81-32d.	,,
Francs, 3 ,, ,, ..	1f. 10¼ to ½c.	,,

On Calcutta demand drafts are still quoted at 1-16 per cent. discount to par; 60 days' sight nominal.

GOVERNMENT PAPER has shown an easier feeling. Buyers seem disinclined to operate, and although sellers as yet are pretty firm, a decline of at least ⅛ must be quoted. Fours are call Rs. 98⅝; Fours-and-half, Rs. 107⅝.

SHARES.—The market has been quiet, but on the whole fairly firm. Bank of Bombays are ¼ per cent. lower at Rs. 722½. Land Companies are unchanged; and in Press Shares the only movement is in Mofussils which are Rs. 5 lower at Rs. 350. Spinning and Weaving Mill Shares are somewhat irregular, but the movements do not amount to much, and generally are Rs. 5 to Rs. 10 per share in favor of sellers. Treacher and Company, Limited, are Rs. 5 lower at Rs. 730, Bombay Saw Mills Rs. 15 lower at Rs. 720.

COTTON.—The advance of 1-16d. in Spot Cotton in Liverpool caused the market to open firm at yesterday's closing rates, but in the absence of the New York telegram very little was done for a time. In the first instance Reuter's message came out quoting a drop of 1·18 cents. in Futures and operations for a time came to a standstill. Afterwards, however, on it being discovered that a mistake of 1 cent. had been made in the quotation, a steadier tone was established, but the real drop, although small, has been sufficient to alarm buyers, and at the close there are numerous sellers, but no real buying rates named. It is consequently very difficult to give any thing like reliable closing quotations, but we should say the following are as near as could be given :—

Good Hingunghaut, Jan.....	Rs. 250	per candy.
Good Akote March	,, 230	,,
,, Omra ,, ...	,, 230	,,
,, Broach ,, ...	,, 244	,,

LINSEED.—A large business has been done during the past two days for May delivery at Rs. 6-7 to Rs. 6-7½, and for all ready supplies of decent quality there are willing buyers at Rs. 6-13 per cwt.

WHEAT.—A good demand still prevails notwithstanding the weaker accounts from home, and Rs. 34 per candy has again been paid for Soft White.

FREIGHTS are quiet, and we have not heard of any engagement of importance during the day. Rates are unchanged all round, but steamers have been offering from home on somewhat easier terms.

PIECE-GOODS are decidedly firm in the bazaar, and dealers are asking an advance of ½ to 1 anna per piece. This, however, has only so far had the effect of checking buyers, and the clearances to-day cannot be put at more than about 400 packages of all kinds.

COALS continue steady at previous rates, but no fresh business is reported.

FORTY PAGES, PRICE SIXPENCE.

WHEN, immediately after Mr. Gladstone's return to office, an arrangement was made by which the PALL MALL GAZETTE was to give up all its old opinions and take to new ones, there was no choice for its Editor, or for the Writers who had created and maintained its reputation, but to abandon the paper. This they did accordingly; but only to come together again, within the space of four weeks, under the flag of the ST. JAMES'S GAZETTE. The new paper thus named leapt at once into a great success; and now, in response to many inquiries from India, from America, and from British Colonists in various parts of the world, a Weekly Edition is printed under the title of WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1880.

WE republished on Monday last the principal points of an interesting and weighty article on the retention of Kandahar, contributed by Colonel Malleson to the first number of the new Army and Navy Magazine. The article in question sums up in brief compass the arguments for the retention of Kandahar and the annexation to the empire of Southern Afghanistan as far as the Helmund. We have already stated our opinion, that the annexation of this country is in itself desirable, if it can be effected without imposing upon the military and financial resources of the empire a burden which could not be prudently undertaken. Colonel Malleson maintains that the cost would be inconsiderable, and that the difficulty of finding the troops to constitute the garrison required can be surmounted by the expedient of raising regiments of Khorasanis, Kizilbashes, Tajiks, and Turkis, commanded by European officers. This project, we confess, does not seem so hopeful to us now as it did before the mutiny of the troops raised by the Wali proved that the national feeling is more diffused throughout the population than was generally supposed. The examples to which Colonel Malleson refers are not so conclusive as might at first seem to be the case. The regiments of Sikhs which were raised during the Mutiny no doubt did good service, but they were not called upon to fight against their own countrymen, but against their mortal enemies, the Hindoos. No doubt, if the whole of Afghanistan were once brought into subjection as completely as was the Punjab, it would be easy to raise an army there which would be quite willing to be led into the Punjab and settle old scores with the Sikhs. It is true that, as Colonel Malleson says, the Great Commoner, by raising regiments of Highlanders, pacified a country until then almost as irreconcileable as Afghanistan itself. But it may be doubted whether the experiment would have been practicable with the Young Pretender still in arms and three-fourths of the Highlands unpenetrated by the royal troops. The difficulty, it seems to us, of finding a large garrison for the maintenance of our rule in Southern Afghanistan, if the country is to be retained is by no means light. The strength of the force required has been set down at 15,000 men, which means an expenditure beyond the normal of at least a million-and-a-half per annum. How much of that sum will the resources of the country itself recoup us? The strategic advantages of holding a fortified city blocking the one route of invasion are manifest enough, and so are also the disadvantages of having to keep open a line of communications through a wild and, in parts, sterile and difficult country. No doubt the Kandahar railway would greatly diminish the difficulties in this respect; but who will guarantee the security of the railway throughout its whole extent, especially at critical moments? We know what happened to the portion of the line in progress between Sibi and Hurnai when Ayoub was advancing on Kandahar. There seems to us to be no royal road to a safe conclusion upon this very difficult question of keeping or abandoning Kandahar and the country up to Girishk. Having had the trouble and cost of fighting for the city, it would be very satisfactory to keep it as a trophy, but it is foolish to allow sentiment of any kind to warp our judgment in matters of such importance. Sir Donald Stewart was for some time a staunch advocate for annexation in one form or other, but the experience he has acquired on the spot has, we understand, brought him to see that the burden would be heavy and the advantages by no means so great as they at one moment appeared to be. One lesson has been taught us by the course of events, and that is that Shere Ali was quite right in regarding our occupation of Quetta as a step which placed Kandahar wholly at our mercy. No difficulty beyond that of transport was found to stand in the way when the time came for advancing from Quetta to Kandahar, and the city fell into our hands at the first summons. It is therefore a matter of consideration whether we cannot, by concentrating our strength at Quetta, avoid the expense, and above all the risk of being involved in endless complications, which the permanent occupation of Kandahar would entail. So long as there seemed fair reason to suppose that a considerable section of the country would welcome our rule, or was at all events prepared to acquiesce in it, we were in favour of annexation as a means of extending our commerce, our political influence, and our civilisation in that direction. There is no reason why we should leave to the Russians the exclusive privilege of civilising the peoples adjacent to our own frontiers. We quite recognise the danger of a policy of inaction in presence of the power and prestige which results in every country, and especially in Asia, from a policy full of vitality and movement. It may still be found that even the withdrawal of our troops from Kandahar may not close this question, and that the force of events may carry them back again, to remain there permanently. It may be difficult for India to find the means of holding Kandahar or other points beyond her own frontier, but it is quite impossible that she can resign herself to the far greater loss which would inevitably result from allowing them to become the points of departure for projects of invasion, or even of political intrigue. The whole question has, however, been debated again and again, and it is difficult now to throw any new light upon it. The Government has decided to withdraw from Kandahar, and we do not object to this decision. The facts upon which the final judgment can alone be safely made are necessarily known in greater fullness and detail to the Government than to outsiders. If it be the deliberate opinion of those who are responsible for a right solution of the problem that the annexation of the country up to the Helmund would dangerously weaken the European and the native garrisons of India, that the drain upon the finances would not be recouped by the revenues to be obtained from the new province, and if in the opinion of military experts the possession of Quetta will enable us to forestall a Russian or any other army trying to possess itself of Kandahar, we acquiesce in the decision to withdraw from Southern Afghanistan. It may be necessary to advance once more, but in the meantime we can watch events without being subjected to the heavy strain which the immediate annexation of Kandahar will certainly involve. We do not attach much importance to the fears expressed by some writers, that the withdrawal from Kandahar will be a blow to our prestige throughout India and the East generally. It is pretty well understood by this time that, if we chose, we could annex not only Kandahar, but every city in Afghanistan, in spite of anything the Afghans could do to prevent us. If we do not annex the whole country, the reason is that we do not choose to do so, believing that the country is too poor and too barbarous to repay us the trouble of conquest. If anyone in India is mad enough to conspire or to rebel because we have seen fit to bring back our forces from beyond the frontier, he will find that the step which he imagined was a proof of weakness has only added to our means of annihilating internal enemies wherever found.

OUR Special Correspondent at Kandahar gives us some information with regard to the difficulties besetting Ayoub Khan at Herat. The exactions rendered necessary by the hostilities against the English have made him very unpopular in certain districts, and it appears at least possible that he may be overthrown by a popular rising. On the other hand, it seems to be proposed that he should be acknowledged ruler of Southern Afghanistan in vassalage to the Amir. It is not yet known whether such a proposal will be acceptable to Ayoub, and we may well doubt whether, if accepted, the arrangement would prove other than transitory. The flight of Ayoub is still spoken of as possible, and one day Persia and on another Russia is mentioned as the country in which he will seek refuge. It is impossible to predict with any precision the future of a particular leader amongst the Afghans. But it is well to bear in mind that rumours of this kind were very rife during the whole period of the occupation of Kandahar, until they were falsified by Ayoub's actually crossing the Helmund at the head of an army. It is, however, very probable that the heavy sacrifices entailed by the warlike preparations which he is urging forward may result in a revolution which would drive him from Herat, at all events for a time.

THE abundance and cheapness of money in Bombay now is, we believe, without parallel in our commercial history; even that proverbial being the "oldest inhabitant" is unable to recall a time when money could be had, as now, at one per cent. per annum on the security of Government paper. It is highly satisfactory, and indicative of the fact that the lessons of fifteen years ago are not yet forgotten, that this plethora of money has resulted in only two purely speculative companies,—we refer, of course, to the two gold companies, both of which are under the management of the same firm. And this abundance of money does not arise from stagnation of trade; we have never had a more brisk import business than for the past six or eight months. The value of imports for the six months of the three successive years ending 30th September, 1880, were Rs. 5,85,84,000, Rs. 5,21,34,000, Rs. 8,20,33,000; and this heavy importation has not arisen from excessive stocks at home which have been thrown recklessly on this and other markets, but it has been an import business of goods wanted for consumption by the people of the country, and paid for and removed almost immediately on arrival. The exports from Bombay are equally progressive, the figures for the periods mentioned above being, respectively, Rs. 11,03,48,000, Rs. 11,36,94,000, Rs. 13,83,23,000. And the same activity prevails in our local industries, every mill being worked on full time. There is not an element wanting to justify a brisk demand for money and to support full rates of interest. Again, the imports of treasure have been small compared with the two previous years; they stand for the same periods of the six months of the three years Rs. 76,06,000, Rs. 85,59,000, Rs. 34,44,000. It will thus be seen that the importation of specie for the first six months of the present financial year is considerably less than one-half of the average of the same time of the two preceding years, and since the end of September last the import has almost entirely fallen off. And yet in spite of this combination of causes, which would all tend naturally to raise its value, we find money a drug in the market. That the full supply of money in the general market has not arisen from the depletion of the Government treasuries is seen from the fact that Government has not been compelled to stop its drawings all the season, and are now beginning to increase them. In March last the Viceroy, in telegraphing for a reduction in the drawings of Council drafts, stated that they could anticipate only eight crores in October-November, and yet on the last day of October the Government treasury balances amounted to Rs. 9,27,54,000. How long this state of things may last it is impossible to conjecture. It rests largely on confidence which may be destroyed suddenly, with the result of an immediate diminution in the available supply of money. So far as bank deposits go, there would seem to be but little danger of a reaction. The private deposits in the Bank of Bombay, according to the last-published accounts were 272 lakhs against 170 lakhs at the same time in 1879 and 236 lakhs in 1878. The Bank of Bengal shows 432 lakhs at present against 261 lakhs in 1879 and 266 lakhs in 1878. The two banks have now 704 lakhs of private deposits against 431 lakhs a year ago. It is not to be supposed, however, that this state of things will continue there must be a reaction sooner or later, and it will most likely come suddenly. We shall one of these days find ourselves with tight money, and probably as unable to explain the causes as we are now to solve the problem of the present position. Meantime we are gathering the harvest of a brisk business, and, in anticipation of the opening of the Rajputana Railway, are robbing Calcutta of a portion of the trade in the north-west.

THE VICEROY'S VISIT.

HIS EXCELLENCY'S VISIT TO THE CRAWFORD MARKET AND SCHOOL OF ART.

His Excellency left Parel early yesterday morning accompanied by Mr H. W. Primrose and Sir Frank Souter, and visited the Crawford Market. Mr. Higgins, the superintendent, at very short notice, had erected an arch at the entrance, and otherwise decorated the interior of the building with flags and flowers. Lord Ripon was received by Mr. Arthur Crawford, and went all over the place with him, expressing great satisfaction with all he saw. His reception by the bazaar people was particularly enthusiastic, and on leaving His Excellency was decorated by them with garlands and his path strewn with flowers. He next visited the Jamsetjee Jeejeebhoy School of Art, where he was received by Mr. Griffiths and Mr. Terry, who first took him over the elementary school, where H. E. was shewn the course the students went through. He was next conducted to the sculpture department, where he examined the works in progress for the decoration of the new railway terminus and examples from natural foliage and life by the students. He then visited the architecture class; and there the professor, who was present, explained to His Excellency the nature of the work the students were upon, and at the same time pointed out to him the want of Oriental examples for the benefit of the students. Lord Ripon then went upstairs, going among the wood-engravers on his way to the advanced classes of the elementary school, where he inspected the drawings from casts and foliage. He went thence into the painting department, where the students were employed in reproducing copies of the Ajanta painting and studying from nature and foliage. His Excellency then walked over to the pottery department, where he inspected the various processes through which the ware is put, at the same time observing the collection intended for the South Kensington museum and other orders. He was taken next to the silver-workers, where he inspected a magnificent present intended by Colonel Gonne for the officers' mess of the 17th Lancers. This exquisite piece of art is a silver elephant with trappings and howdah, guided by a mahaut. The work has been carefully carried out by Mr. Terry's Kutch artisans from a model made under Mr. Grifiths' superintendence and numerous sketches executed by Mr. Terry while at Mahableshwur. The weight of silver alone in this piece of work is between seven and eight hundred tolahs. His Excellency. expressed himself as very much satisfied with all he saw. He particularly noticed the waste bit of ground to the south of the school once covered with magnificent trees. It is now going to ruin, and the staff of the school need not despair of sooner or later having private dwellings erected for them on this ground. His Excellency upon leaving the school, drove through Parsee Bazaar Street on his way back to Parel.

HIS EXCELLENCY AT ST. XAVIER'S COLLEGE.

His Excellency having consented to preside at the distribution of prizes to the boys of this institution, drove up to the college building at 4-30 p.m. yesterday, the hour fixed. Lord Ripon was accompanied by Lady Fergusson, and was attended by his Private Secretary, Mr. H. W. Primrose, and a few of the members of his staff. He was received at the college door by the Rt. Rev. Fr. Meurin, Vicar Apostolic, the Rector, and other gentlemen of the college management, and conducted to the hall upstairs, which was modestly and prettily decorated for the occasion with flags and mottoes, while the college band played the national anthem. The hall was filled to overflowing, every available seat being occupied, principally by the parents of the boys and the friends of the institution. Among the visitors were H. E. the Commander-in-Chief and Mrs. Warre, Mr. and Mrs. Noble, Sir Frank Souter, Major-General Hewett, Dr. and Mrs. Blanc, Dr. and Mrs. Hojel, and Mr. Gonne. After an overture by the band a prologue was recited by one of the lads (master Kersall), containing many kindly references to His Excellency, and rendered with much care and taste. The popular tableau from the "Merchant of Venice" followed, and the same youth won golden opinions by his delineation of "the learned doctor from Padua." Shylock, got up as the beau ideal of an Israelite, found a good representative in Master Murray, whose conception of the character showed him to be possessed of histrionic ability beyond his years. Portia's exposition of "the quality of mercy" was very effective, and the Jew's look of supreme indifference while the advocate enlarged upon the god-like attribute was well feigned by Murray. The curtain dropped amid great applause. After some more music, a Rev. Father of the college read the annual report, which showed the institution to be in the most flourishing condition. Out of 27 boys sent up for matriculation 22 were successful, one of them obtaining the Latin scholarship. Eleven boys presented themselves for the B. A. examination, and 10 of their number stood best, while 9 out of 10 boys passed the F. A. examination.

H. E. the Viceroy, when the prizes were distributed, spoke as follows :—

Your Lordship, ladies, and gentlemen,—I had very great pleasure in accepting the invitation which was sent to me a few weeks ago to be present upon this occasion and to take part in the distribution of these prizes, because I was already aware that this college was by common consent numbered among the best educational institutions of the city of Bombay (applause), and I expected, therefore, to derive no little gratification from being here upon this occasion and personally becoming acquainted with the managers and students of this institution. And, certainly, the report which was read to us just now, couched in such modest and unassuming terms, has proved, not by large words, but by the hard facts of educational statistics, the success of the education which is given here. (Applause.) I am quite sure that all the friends of this college will have heard with great satisfaction the proof which that report contained of how well able the students of St. Xavier's College are to hold their own in the race of life. But, ladies and gentlemen, I confess that the scene which we have witnessed this evening has had for me a larger share of attraction than I anticipated, and has raised thoughts in my mind more far-reaching than those which I expected to meet here. For surely there is something very remarkable in the fact that we should in this hall—in the midst of this great Oriental city, and before such a company as this, containing the most distinguished inhabitants of Bombay, of all races and all creeds—have had a tableau presented on that little stage with such marked ability from one of the great plays of Shakespeare. I wonder what would have been the feelings of Queen Elizabeth and her courtiers, in Shakespeare's days, had they known that in less than three short centuries his plays would become famous in India. For what are three centuries in the life of a country like India, one of the most ancient countries in the world! And surely we may see in the honour thus accorded to the first of English poets a happy augury of that union which year by year is becoming close and stronger between the civilisation of the West and of the East. I myself look upon it as a circumstance of happy augury for the future of India when I see so many of our Indian population assembled on this occasion to listen, I doubt not with much appreciation, to the words of the greatest English poet. Ladies and gentlemen, it is not for me to occupy your time with any eulogy of Sir Francis Xavier's College. Of course I can only judge of it first by what I have heard on all sides and from many lips, and then from all that I have seen to-night with so much pleasure. You know, you who have assembled here in such large numbers, who place confidence in those who manage it, and send your children to it—you know far better than I do the benefits which it is calculated to confer. More I cannot do than to offer to you, my Lord, and to the managers and students of this college, my hearty congratulations upon the flourishing condition in which you find yourselves now. (Applause.) But before I sit down I should like to say one or two words to those who are students in this college, that I may exhort them to avail themselves to the utmost of the great advantages here presented to them. My young friends, we live in days in which education has become almost a necessary of life in all ranks and all classes, and those who have not mental qualifications will inevitably fall behind in the race of that keen competition to which all must be subjected in these days. But if I exhort you to use the advantages you now possess to the utmost, I do not desire to put before you any low or sordid motive. It will be greatly to your interest in afterlife that you should use them; but I can tell you that should you endeavour to acquire knowledge for a reason other than her own true worth, she will not reveal her secrets to you. Knowledge is a fair and noble dame, but she is proud and cannot be won by those who are less noble than herself. (Cheers). Let me, then, earnestly exhort you to seek for knowledge for her own sake, and to go on, step by step and stage by stage, through the classes and forms of this institution, advancing day by day, in order that in afterlife you may use the advantages offered here to a good and praiseworthy end. The poet tells us that

> "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing;
> Drink deep, but taste not of the Pierian spring."

There is much truth in these lines, but they always seem to me to contain a half truth. A little knowledge is no dangerous thing provided you know that it is little. It is a dangerous thing if it makes you proud and conceited, if you use it to flourish in the face of those more ignorant than yourselves, and if you seek to make use of what you know in order that you may obtain a little temporary praise. The true student is ever modest, and of a reverent spirit. Let the latter be yours, and let me beg you now, you who have so many advantages, to use them for the development and cultivation of those intellectual faculties which are the inheritance and possession of all races alike. Let me ask you to use them well for your intellectual development. And not for that alone. Let me entreat you to lay firm and deep the foundation of that character by which you are to be distinguished, and which will form a solid basis to those moral qualifications which alone conduce to true happiness and will win for you the respect and affection of your fellowmen. (Loud applause.)

The proceedings then came to a close, and His Excellency returned to Parel.

HYDERABAD RACES.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

FIFTH DAY, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 27.

AN excellent day's racing yesterday brought the Hyderabad meeting of 1880 to a close. Hyderabad may indeed be proud of its honorary secretary, Mr. M. H. Wilkinson. Only two short years ago this meeting was but a very poor affair, scarcely above gymkhana form, and entirely supported by local talent. Now Mr. Wilkinson, as if by magic, has transformed it into, by far and away, the best meeting in India. Of the excellence of the race-course, the magnificence of the grand-stand, and the perfection of all the arrangements connected with the racing I have told you in a former letter. All this is owing to Mr. Wilkinson, and to him only. Genial and courteous to all, he is a favourite with all ranks of the racing community. Owners of race-horses are assisted by him in every way, and their wishes met by him as far as possible. With Mr. Wilkinson still in office, I shall expect the Hyderabad meeting of 1881 to be something quite out of the common, and to find the Calcutta and Umballa stables assembling in force at His Highness the Nizam's capital to do battle with the stables of Southern India for the rich prizes which Hyderabad offers. The handicapping at the meeting has been quite first class. No chucked-in horses or favour or affection shown here, I can tell you, oh, my up-country secretaries! On the contrary, such talent has been displayed in the adjustment of the weights at this meeting that the selection of a winner has been each day a very difficult problem for the public to solve. I have not heard a single owner complain that his horse has been hardly treated, and the large acceptances for each handicap race prove that all knew they had been fairly treated and given a level chance.

Business began with a pony hurdle-race, which, though it did not provide much of a race, still afforded the public the pleasure of seeing how a horse should be ridden over the sticks. It was a pretty sight to see the handsome little Modesty sailing along and jumping like an antelope; and Mr. Maitland, who rode himself, has shown that he is a workman over a country as well as an accomplished rider on the flat. The Arabi fell to Mr. Abdool Rahman's Ringlet, a go horse and a great miler. In the City and Sub great pot was upset, for the heavily-backed tired under the weight, and Dick Turpin sc easy win. The race of the day, the Civilian produced a field of nine horses, all backed, declared to be likely winners. The race w entirely to suit Young Revenge, at a wretche pace, the first half-mile being only one minute seconds. Hackney, waiting with him to the l mile, came through his horses with a wet s won in a canter; Tiger gidden hard to secure money, being second; Fareed third; an Armistice, who had too much weight on him. The Pony Handicap afforded a pretty fin when it comes to a really close thing, no can be expected to ride with a good Europe and Bowen simply outrode Oomer and lande Ruby by half a length. The Golcondah Pl run in the dark, and I cannot say wha celebrity won it.

DISPLACEMENT OF BOMBAY BY BENGAL OFFICERS.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

KANDAHAR, Nov. 30.

Almost a clean sweep is being made of the Bombay officers on the staff at Kandahar; in fact, the transference of supreme military direction to Bengal resembles the appointment of a new president in the United States, the officers who have borne the heat and burden of the past four months are removed from their posts for the sole crime of hailing from the wrong presidency. If this sort of thing goes on, no officer who can help himself will join the Bombay Army, which the Supreme Government appears to be doing [illegible] best to

REBELLION IN KURDISTAN.

The British Government has made representations to Russia relative to her attitude in the Kurdish rebellion.

 It is affirmed that the 12,000 horsemen under Obeidullah, the Kurdish chief, are each provided with a Henry-Martini, and that the arms were supplied, directly or indirectly, by the Russians out of the spoil taken after the defeat of Mukhtar Ghazi at the close of the late war. The remonstrances now addressed by the British Government to that of Russia would go to show that this statement may not be so devoid of truth as it might at first sight appear.—ED. B. G.

WE publish to-day the prize-list of the Western India Rifle Association meeting, held in Poona, Bombay, Allahabad, Calcutta, Kamptee, Aden, Bareilly, Bhusawal, Naini Tal, Lahore, Agra, Jhelum, and Jeypore on the 6th, 7th, 8th, and 9th of October last. It will be seen that the Bombay Volunteers are high up in the list, members of the corps having taken the gold and bronze Association medals, six out of the ten first prizes in the military rifle matches, and a considerable number of money prizes. The winner of the gold medal is Mr. W. F. Whitehead, late of [illegible] Company, and at present 2nd Lieutenant of D. Company, B. V. R., whose aggregate in the ten matches counting for the Association medals from 200 to 900 yards was 413, or 13 points over "inners." Mr. Whitehead won also three first prizes—for 34 out of a possible 35 at 200 yards; for 46 out of 50 at 700 yards, and for 45 out of 50 at 800 yards; and tied for first place with 37 out of 50 at 900 yards, but lost the cup in this instance on the tie. The silver medal of the Association, for the second highest aggregate, was won by Sergeant Carreras, of the G. I. P. R. Volunteers, who shot at Bhusawal; and the bronze medal, for the third highest aggregate, by Sergeant. S. G. Brebner, of the Poona detachment, Bombay Volunteer Rifles, who shot at Poona. Sergeant Brebner also won three first prizes,—with 33 out of 35 at 500 yards, 37 out of 50 (beating Mr. Whitehead on the tie) at 900 yards, and 93 out of 105 at 600, 700, and 800 yards. Mr. Whitehead was first also for the Hyderabad Rifle Association Silver Medal and the Southern India Rifle Association Silver Medal, beating the winning scores in the former case by 16 points, and in the second case by 15 points; but having won another medal, he was debarred by the rules from taking either of these. The medal for the best aggregate in the match-rifle contests was won by Mr. Dorabjee Pudumjee, the well-known rifle-shot of Poona, who made some very fine practice with his breach-loading Metford. The first prize in each of the [illegible] Contests was won by Lieutenant Adam [illegible]er Poona veteran, and honorary [illegible]he Association.

[illegible]HE following story, related in the Land Revenue [illegible]eport from Assam, will give an idea of some of [illegible]he tricks resorted to by native officials in the remoter districts to squeeze money from the simple rustics. The divisional officer of North Lakhimpur relates:—"A rumour had got about that Government had directed lists of good-looking and mature girls to be prepared, with the object of collecting these and sending them to be distributed as the meed of valour amongst the officers and men of the Naga Hills Expeditionary Force. It coming to notice that the manqadar of Beteri Telahi, Keharan, was promoting the spread of this report, as a means of extorting money from selected individuals or their friends, under the guise of exempting them from inclusion in the Government lists, an inquiry was directed, and the accused official was arrested and brought to trial, but was acquitted through sundry discrepancies in the evidence."

"WHERE are our political associations at present?" asks one of the leading Bombay native papers, the Indu Prakash. "They should be coming forward with addresses of welcome to the Viceroy, and with views on the principal political questions of the day. The Bombay Association seems to be virtually dead, while the local branch of the East India Association is in sound sleep. Are we to suppose that political feeling among the leaders of the native community is on the decline? This cannot be, seeing that in our municipal elections the liveliest interest was taken by the intelligent classes. Are we, then, to attribute the present indifference to want of unity among the leaders of the several sections of our community? It scarcely redounds to our credit that this metropolis of Western India—this boasted Urbs prima in Indis—should not be able to point to a single political association prepared to place the Viceroy in possession of native views on some of the most absorbing political questions of the day. What are our leaders doing?"

CHARLES ROBERTSON was tried at the Allahabad Sessions last week on a charge of causing the death of a native ayah, it being alleged that he struck her with his fist on the face, broke an earthen jar over her head, and kicked her while she lay on the ground. The accused admitted that he slapped the woman on the face, because he was greatly incensed at certain improper language she had used towards his sister, but denied having assaulted her further. The jury, after retiring for twenty minutes, brought in a unanimous verdict of not guilty on all counts. It then remained for His Lordship to pass sentence on the prisoner on his own confession, viz., under section 358 I. P. C., of assault under provocation. From inquiries made, it was ascertained that the prisoner had been in his late employ for two years and eight months, and that there was nothing known detrimental to his character. The judge addressed the prisoner as follows:—Charles Robertson, the jury have thought proper to acquit you. I entirely concur in their verdict. I do not think that you did the act for which you were charged, but I do think you were led to it by slapping the deceased on the face. You are an example of the folly which Europeans commit by beating natives, and I earnestly beg of all Europeans here present to desist from the practice of striking natives. You would not strike a European servant, for the result would, doubtless, be an encounter; and knowing that a native will not retaliate, you should never strike him. I trust that this history will be a lesson to others, especially to you, and that no one will—in fact, he must not—use his hands on natives. You have hitherto borne a good character, and I hope the railway company will take you back. The sentence of this court is that you undergo simple imprisonment for one month and pay a fine of Rs. 100; in default to undergo further simple imprisonment for one week. The court was crowded throughout the proceedings.

THERE has been of late a very large increase in the quantity and value of Indian coffee exported. The value of the exports for the first half of the current official year considerably exceeded a crore, the figure for the same period of last year being under 63 lakhs. It is a notable fact that more than half the total quantity exported went to France, where one gets good coffee. Indian coffee, too, is sent largely to Arabia, and after the voyage is called pure Mocha and exported as such both to Europe and India.

THE latest official report on the state of the weather and prospects of the crops throughout India sums up the condition of things in the following "general remarks":—Rain has fallen throughout the Madras presidency, and the general prospects continue satisfactory. There has been slight rain in parts of the Deccan, and prospects are generally good. In Bengal there was no rain, except light showers in parts of Behar; prospects are, however, very favourable, and the sowing of the cold-weather crops is nearly completed. The usual autumnal fever prevails in many places. Good and general rain fell in all districts in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, which has greatly benefited the rabi crops, and a much larger area will now be sown. All immediate fears as to the rabi are over, but more rain is wanted in Cawnpore and part of Allahabad. Prices have fallen in Fyzabad, Rae Bareilly, and Partabgarh, but have risen a little in Cawnpore. Several districts in the Central Provinces have had rain; the kharif outturn is good on the whole, and the rabi sowings have been completed; fever is abating. In Burma there has been no rain; the crops have suffered in places from want of the later rain, but generally they are good. In Assam and the other provinces and states the prospects are good, except in parts of Gwalior and Northern Bundelkhand, where there is still reason for anxiety. Throughout India prospects are now generally satisfactory, though in some places more rain is still required.

THE Anglo-Indian has the following:—The reports of the agricultural prospects of a certain province in the empire have of late become so monotonous that an assistant in a public office having charge of the preparation of summaries of what are still called "famine reports," but being summoned by irresistible considerations to take one month's privilege leave—in fact the man went married—quietly got up beforehand the four reports that were required for the period, and got an obliging soul to send them in as they fell due. It did not make any difference in the government of the province. But the arrangement for holding famines in this way costs about Rs. 120 a month.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE TELEPHONIC EXCHANGE SYSTEM.

ON Saturday last, Mr. Clement D. Leggatt, representing the patentees, Professor Alexander Graham Bell and Mr. Thomas Alva Edison, and also the Oriental Bell Telephone Company, wrote to Mr. H. W. Primrose, Private Secretary to the Viceroy, soliciting an interview with His Excellency for the purpose of presenting an address.

Mr. Leggatt received a note in reply, stating that as the Viceroy's time was so occupied during the stay in Bombay he could not set apart an hour for an interview, but that His Excellency had deputed the Hon. James Gibbs, C.S.I., the member of the Governor-General's Council, who exercises a special supervision over matters connected with the Telegraph Department, to receive him and his colleagues, and appointing half-past eleven o'clock on Monday morning for doing so. The address was as follows:—

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the MARQUIS OF RIPON, K.G., Viceroy and Governor-General of India.

May it please your Lordship,—We, the undersigned, representing the interests of the Oriental Bell Telephone Company, to whom are entrusted the controlling and working of the patents of the inventors, Professor Alexander Graham Bell and Mr. Thomas Alva Edison, for inaugurating the system of district telephone exchanges, and whose patents are controlled and worked by us in Great Britain, the United States of America, the Continent of Europe, and in the Colonies, approach your Lordship with every mark of deference as the representative of Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and the Empress of India. We hail with extreme satisfaction the opportunity your visit to this portion of the Empire affords us to place briefly before your Lordship the manifold advantages of the telephone in the district exchange system, as specially adapted to the requirements of the cities and towns in this Empire within their municipal or State limits, as a means of oral communication between persons separated from each other in the various streets and districts within such cities and towns, and to whom our system at once offers so cheap, rapid, easy, and perfect a service. Our arrival in India with the necessary appliances, material equipment, and men, combined with the requisite knowledge absolutely necessary to the establishment of a successful district telephone system in any country, obtained at a very considerable cost, and affording in every department the most recent improvements connected with telephone apparatus, presents an opportunity for introducing the district exchange system into this country in a highly favourable manner, which we respectfully bring to the notice of your Lordship. The organization we offer is unique in its kind, being perfect in all its parts, and available for operation on every day matters where time, money and trouble can be saved by it. The district telephone exchange system conveys orally knowledge to persons apart in streets and districts, and just as the telegraph does now what letter-writing did before, so the telephone can do in cities and towns a great part of what the telegraph outside of them accomplishes. In the district telephone exchange business the telephone is a substitude for the local telegraph, and supplies a want outside of the scope of the telegraph. The telepnone also supplies the means for such a working of the telegraph system in the interchange of traffic, or the connexion between the telephone and the telegraph, as would do away with a large number of messengers employed in carring telegrams and thus reduce considerably the expenses of the department. We offer under our patents, which we are here to control and work, by our special knowledge, long experience, by the necessary equipment, material and men, such a service as nowhere else prevails in the world, and which alone yields results equivalent to the care and [illegible]ll with which it is worked. We ask no concessions whatever from the State and only trust to the merits of our invention, and to the success we have hitherto attained all over the world, to command the approbation of the Government and the support of the public. We emphatically disclaim all intention of interfering with the telegraph system now working throughout the Empire, we offer no impediment to the legitimate extension of such system, and we only claim for our work, and for the interests of those we represent, a perfect service of oral communication for persons separate from each other in streets, and districts within the cities and towns of the Empire, to whom such a service would be an inestimable boon, and which no telegraph can ever supply; and we therefore pray that your Lordship, representing the viceregal office in this vast Empire, will favour the development of a system which has been introduced by us with such success already throughout Great Britian, the United States of America, the Continent of Europe, and the Colonies.—We have, &c., ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL, THOMAS ALVA EDISON, represented by CLEMENT D. LEGGATT, and with GARDINER G. HUBBARD, CHARLES J. BELL, JOHN G. BIGELOW, JAMES M. ORMES, EDWARD GOURAUD, DEFOREST P. ORMES, GEORGE F. MOODY, representing the ORIENTAL BELL TELEPHONE Co., ALEXANDER BRYCE CHALMERS, Acting Manager. Bombay, November 24, 1880.

The undersigned bankers, merchants, barristers, solicitors, and others interested in the immediate introduction of the telephone system into this city, respectfully support the prayer of the memorialists and commended it to the urgent consideration of His Excellency the Viceroy in Council:—

Bank of Bombay, W. FRASER, Offg. Secy; Bank of Bengal, J. SLATER, Agent; Comptoir D'Escompte de Paris, F. VOUILLON, Manager; Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, G. E. NOBLE, Agent; National Bank of India, J. BUCHAN, Manager; Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, T. FORREST, Agent; Agra Bank (Ld), JAMES HUTTON, Manager; Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company, G. A. BARNETT, Agent; Bombay, Boroda and Central India Railway Company, F. MATHEW, Agent; Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, F. D. PARKER, Superintendent; Austro-Hungarian Lloyd's Steam Navigation Co., J. JANNI, Agent; RALLI BROTHERS; MACKINNON, MACKENZIE & Co.; EWART, LATHAM & Co.; BENN, ASHLEY & Co. LYON & Co.; SIR CHARLES FORBES & Co.; LANG, MUIR & Co.; KILLICK, NIXON & Co.; PEEL, CASSELS & Co.; W. M. MACAULAY & Co.; THOS. H. MOORE & Co.; F. SAUQUET & Co.; SIGG-SULZER & Co.; W. BELL & Co.; B. AND A. HORMARJEE; J. CRUDDAS & Co.; D. S. KEMP & Co.; GILL AND HASWELL; REUTER'S TELEGRAM COMPANY, H. WILLIAMS, Manager Eastern Branches, and others.

At the hour appointed, Mr. Clement D. Leggatt, accompanied by the following gentlemen, viz., Mr. John G. Russell, Mr. Alexander B. Chalmers, Mr. De Forest P. Orme and Mr. George F. Moody, proceeded to Government House, Parell, and Mr. Leggatt having presented them to the Hon. James Gibbs, C. S. I., addressed that gentleman as follows:—

Honourable Sir,—I regret that the lateness of the hour, nearly midnight, at which I received the intimation from His Excellency the Viceroy's Private Secretary that his Lordship had deputed you to receive us at an early hour to-day has made it impossible for me to consult with those associated with me previously to seeing you or even to get as many of my staff together as the occasion offered. I more deeply regret that the Viceroy has not been able himself to receive us, so that from him in person we might have had a hearing of our cause; but, Sir, I am fully conscious that his Excellency in deputing you to represent him on this occasion has made choice of one in the Supreme Council of this Empire who, from many years of high office in all departments of State, has secured the approbation of the Government and won the respect and affection of all classes of the community by your able advocacy of all enterprises, public and private, which have had for their object the advancement of the moral and social progress of the people; and in the words of his Lordship the other evening, so truly spoken in a social gathering to those in this Presidency, who like me have known you and deeply respected you, that he has derived great and marked advantages from your wide experience, your judicial temper, and your administrative knowledge. Sir, the petition I have had the honour to transmit to the Governor-General through his Private Secretary, I presume, is already in your hands. It has been supported by the principal leading bankers, merchants, and others whose names are already familier to you, earnestly urging the consideration of his Excellency the Viceroy and his Council to the prayers of us his memorialists. That petition will speak for itself of the work we propose to do, and our desire to have the countenance and support of the Government for, but we embrace this opportunity of urging the following additional remarks on His Excellency's consideration. We believe that it is only since our arrival in this country that the necessity of affording telephonic communication to the cities and towns of the Empire has been determined upon by the Government, and that this determination has decided the State to undertake the work. The request of the Secretary for Public Works at Calcutta to the Chambers of Commerce in this Empire for their opinion on the necessity of telephonic communication, and whether if supplied how far it would be availed of, has only come to hand within the last fortnight; and we understand that replies sent indicate the opinion of these Chambers that the introduction of the telephone should at first be left to private enterprise, whose resources, material and men with vast experience, render its organization (so intricate and peculiar) a matter of primary importance for a successful, satisfactory and complete system, and having before us the fact that the very recent determination of the Government is based upon an application for a concession "to work a system of telephone exchanges" made by persons to secure exclusive privileges, we trust that, having before His Excellency the Viceroy the gigantic operations, we are engaged in and now conducting and working under the only original patents of Professor Alexander Graham Bell and Mr. Thomas Alva Edison in the establishment of district exchanges in Great Britain, the United States of America, the Continent of Europe, and the Colonies, he will see fit to reconsider the late decision arrived at. It is not as if we had come out to the work entrusted to us without every consideration for the policy of the State, or that we had attempted to embark in so vast, costly, and intricate an enterprize, without arriving at the best means in our power of obtaining an insight as to the obstacles which would meet us. At the very first commencement we saw and felt the necessity of consulting Her Majesty's Council for the Government of India in London, and personally myself, with the patentees and those we represent, we saw each separate department of the Indian Council and such of its members as were in London; and so far did our conference extend that Colonel Yule called in Colonel Bayley at the India Office, who had just arrived from the Supreme Government, at Calcutta, to enquire from him how many connections the Government would require with Government offices for telephonic communication there; and I was asked by Mr. Danvers whether a letter to the Government in India would not be sufficient introduction to them. We distinctly stated to the Council of India in our representations of the work we were about to engage in, that we begged if any difficulty presented itself and which the home Government contemplated they would say so, as our operation, both vast and costly, would not be embarked in under those circumstances, and from every quarter we met with both cordial support and wishes of success. I mention this especially to show you that all that could be done was done to inform ourselves of our relations to the State. Eminent counsel also having before them the Postal and Telegraph Acts both of Great Britain and India with every late enactment that has been decreed, saw nothing whateve to hinder our work here, and therefore we feel that our position has been made one of extreme difficulty by the action of Government in the decision they have so very recently arrived at. We are desirous and anxious for the countenance and support of Government. If political reasons influence them we are prepared to meet it by the supervision necessary over our operations; if interference with the telegraphic system be a cause of anxiety we are prepared to have the limits for our operation in the Empire defined; if the question of revenue is embarrassing we are willing to meet it by a just and equitable definement; if the future vastness of the system we propose to inaugurate renders possession by the State hereafter of primary importance (but this cannot be for years to come) we shall be willing to make over our completed work to the Government on an upraised value which shall be arrived at by competent and adequate arbitration consonant with the first principles which have ever guided the State in its relations with private enterprizes. We believe and we affirm it tha tno Government yet has been able to work a satisfactory district telephone exchange system without our co-operation, and which, we humbly submit, has been obtained by long experience, great cost, and by the most modern machinery which everywhere is admitted to be perfect in its service. Sir, I trust that nothing I have said or left unsaid will allow the cause we represent to suffer, and that the heavy responsibility I have in this will plead an excuse for my thus urging the consideration of the Viceroy in Council to our prayer.

In reply, the Hon. Mr. Gibbs said he had heard Mr. Leggatt's remarks with satisfaction, and in conjuction with this address to the Viceroy it was made more clear what the objects and aims were of himself and his colleagues, who were there to represent the interests of the patentees and of the company working their patents. It was to be borne in mind that the Governement of India from the time of the Govenor-Generalship of the late Lord Lawrence and by every successive Viceroy had distinctly affirmed and upheld the policy of maintaining inviolable the monopoly of the State over the telegraph system, which had been erected and was maintained by the Government at great cost, and the question before them was how far they should guard the rights of the State from being infringed by new inventions, which might affect the revenues derived from the telegraph. Did Mr. Leggatt desire or intend any extension of the system of telephonic communication beyond the circumscribed limits of cities and towns, or was it only the intention of the company to work the telephone strictly within those limits? If the extent to which such operations, as proposed, was thus intended to be limited, and there was no interference with the telegraph communication, a reconsideration by Government of their late decision would be advisable, and he could, on behalf of the Governor-General, state that such reconsideration would be given, but while saying this, he woudl guard himself by the statement, also, that it would be entirely a matter for further consultation in Council, as to how far the decision already arrived at might be modified.

A few more questions having been asked, the deputation withdrew having thanked the hon. gentleman for the inerview.

JACOB'S RIFLES AT MAIWAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—In a late issue of your Weekly Budget your Special Correspondent from Kandahar makes the following statement:—"Captain Slade, of E.-B. R. H. A., informed me that he was obliged to limber up his guns and take them to the rear because the men of the 30th N. I. deserted them." I have not the paper by me, but, to the best of my recollection the words used, were as above. My object in now writing is to give the most emphatic denial to the statement made by Captain Slade, and to assert most positively that not a man of the six companies of the 30th N. I. who were in the immediate vicinity of the guns moved, or gave any sign of moving, until the guns had been taken to the rear. The two guns of E-B which were abandoned were far away to the left front of the 30th N. I., and were protected by other troops. It has been said that Major Blackwood, who commanded E-B. R. H. A., left the battery when he was wounded, and did not return to it; but I am prepared to make oath that I saw and talked to Major Blackwood in the battery after he had been wounded, for he had his pocket-handkerchief tied round his right thigh, and his breeches were soaked with blood. I do not know who gave the order for the guns to be taken out of action, but I do know that it was the fact of their being retired that caused the 30th N. I. to get into confusion, their left and rear being entirely exposed to the enemy, who swarmed round them. I am writing to Captain Slade to inform him of the step I am now taking, and I enclose my card, of which you are at liberty to make any use you may think proper.

Jacobabad, Nov. 25.

MALABAR HILL CHURCH.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I should like to remind "Dissenter" that "charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up." The building of his church edifice in Grant Road has evidently fostered in him little but conceit and sectarian jealousy. Let us hope that the benighted churchmen of Malabar Hill will get more that is good out of their enterprise, and not look back upon it with the grudging regret for their money and unchristian envy of the good fortune of others which characterise "Dissenter's" letter. I would advise "Dissenter" to read an article on churches in the last issue of the Friend of India.

THE 66TH REGIMENT AT THE GAIETY THEATRE.

THE 66th Regiment, to the number of about 390, accepted the invitation of Messrs. Norville and Crofton, lessees, to witness the performance at the Gaiety Theatre last evening. The programme was the same as on Saturday last. Mr. Turner introduced into his topical song a verse apropos to the presence of the military guests, the singing of which caused the heartiest demonstration of enthusiastic admiration we ever witnessed. The entire audience cheered repeatedly, and most lustily. The words were as follows:—

The Sixty-Sixth Regiment that are
Encamped but a few yards behind,
Arrived in Bombay at noon on Sunday,
A hearty good welcome to find.
This gallant old reg'ment of Berks
Has done some good service of late;
At Maiwand they fought as Britishers ought,
And numbers of them met their fate.
Three cheers for the brave Berkshire Corps,
For officers, men, and them all;
They deserve a good cheer; if they don't get it here,
It isn't the thing at all.

The piece to be performed to-night at the Gaiety is "Married in Haste," and to-morrow the popular "Our Boys" will be produced.

DEPARTURE OF THE 66TH REGIMENT FOR KHANDALLA.

There are also 53 women, 113 children, 83 followers, and 1 horse. The following is the list of officers:—Lieutenant-Colonel S. Hogge, Major Ready, Captain Quarry, Captain MacKinnen, Captain Beresford Pierse, Captain Bruce, Captain and Mrs. Price and three children, Lieutenants Faunce, Fitzgerald, Edwards, O'Donnell, Lonergan, and Lynch, 2nd Lieutenants Melliss. The summonses were made returnable on Tuesday, the 21st instant.

DEATH OF THE ARCHBISHOP OF GOA.—The India Catholica issued an extra as follows yesterday afternoon on receipt of the sad intelligence of the death of the Archbishop of Goa:—"We have just received the inauspicious tidings of the death of the Venerable Archbishop of Goa, Primate of the East, D. Ayres d'Ornellas de Vasconcellos. We accompany with the whole heart and with a poignant sorrow the desolate Archdiocese of Goa in their feelings of the death of the holy prelate and apostolic man, who leaves behind him in these parts of the world a glorious remembrance of a life dedicated to the service of God and His Church. R. I. P."

STREET ACCIDENTS.—A woman named Bhagoc, about 50 years of age, was accidentally knocked down by a cart on Monday on the Chinch Bunder First Street. She sustained a fracture of her left leg by the fall, and was removed to the J. J. Hospital for treatment.—A Mahomedan lad named Moosa Ismail was also knocked down by a labour-cart on the same day at Second Don Tar Road, and sustained severe injuries. Rawjee Dhunjee, a shopman, while returning home at 7 p. m. through Musjeed Bunder Road, was knocked down by a runaway horse that broke loose from a carriage, receiving a severe lacerated wound on the head. He was conveyed to the Goculdas Tejpal Hospital, where he is under treatment.

VOLUNTEER SHOOTING.—Some sixteen members of C. Company B. V. R. attended at the Coorla butts yesterday morning to shoot for a medal presented by Captain Kemp for the encouragement of shooting at the ranges fixed for the Bayley challenge shield contest, which is to take place some time between now and the 15th January. Five shots were fired at 200, 300, and 700 yards, regulation [illegible]tions and marking. The best score—[illegible] possible 60—was made by Volunt[illegible] 45 out of the A similar competition, we und[illegible]eer McCloughin. place amongst the memb[illegible]erstand, is to take month. THE VICE[illegible]OY'S VISIT TO POONA.—We understand [illegible] the Hon'ble Gopalrao Hari Deshmookh will read the address to be presented to H. E. Lord Ripon by the city Municipal Corporation. This gentleman is at present in Bombay, and is expected to return to Poona in time. If, however, this arrangement should fall through, we believe the pleasing duty of reading and presenting the address will probably fall upon that excellent Parsee gentleman, Khan Bahadoor Puddumjee Pestonjee. We hear of an interesting addition to the programme of Lord Ripon's round of visits in Poona. His Lordship has graciously consented, before leaving for the railway station, to pay a short visit to the Sassoon Hospital. His Excellency will be conducted over the building by Dr. Beatty, who is expected up with the Viceroy next Thursday.—Deccan Herald.

THE HINDU ELOPEMENT.—The elopement in high caste Hindu life in Gujarat to which we alluded the other day has been traced out. The young Lothario, who, by-the-bye goes by the name of Lalitaram, is caught in a trap with his sweatheart, Rukmini. Both are now prisoners in the jail at Nadode, the capital of the Rajpipla chief, under the Rewa Kantha agency. Fortunately the whole of the jewelry and ornaments, worth about Rs. 1,700, have been recovered. Mr. Balmukund, the husband of Rukmini, may be thus congratulated on the recovery of his investment, not in wife, who by her faithlessness has forfeited all claims to restitution, but in jewelry. The case will come on before the Surat magistratè in due course, when the Suratees will have a nice little amusement. Rukmini is said to be fair enough in complexion, but her lover has the ugliest and non-Aryan looks about him. But is not Kamadeva—the god of love—depicted as blind?—Indu Prakash.

DEFAMATION.—Yesterday at the Fort Police Court, Kanjee Annund appeared before Mr. P. Ryan to answer a charge of defamation preferred against him by Ghansey Kessow, a cotton and wool merchant. The circumstances of the case are as follows:—It appears the complainant is a partner in the firm of Versey Dewsey, dealers in grain and sundry other articles of merchandise, and has considerable business with the firm of Sir Charles Forbes and Co. In October last accused wrote a letter to the chief consignment clerk of Sir Charles Forbes and Co., representing that he (the complainant) declined to pay a draft on behalf of his firm, and that his partner had not a pie to trade with, and that when consignments were made by his firm some guarantee was always demanded. The accused is a brother of Dewjee Annund, who recently claimed to be a partner in the firm of complainant, and a law suit has been pending in the High Court in respect of that claim. It was in respect of this law suit, it appears, that both the accused and his brother bore ill-will towards complainant, and wrote the letter in question with intent to injure his reputation and lower his (the complainant's) credit with the firm of Sir Charles Forbes and Co. The case was postponed for hearing to the 8th instant, both parties consenting to suit the convenience of their respective legal advisers.

PASSENGERS BY THE S. S. SUMATRA.

The following is the list of passengers per Italian mail steamer Sumatra, Captain E. Boselli, sailing to-day at 12 a.m.

For Genoa.—Lieut-Col. and Mrs. D. Ward, R.E., Mrs. Halkett and one child, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dodsworth and infant, Rev. and Mrs. B. T. Atlay, Col. Mowbray Thompson, Major Randell, Captain Abbott, Col. Doran, Mrs. Leggatt, and Mr. G. de Angelis.

BOMBAY TOWN COUNCIL.

AT the weekly meeting of the Council held yesterday there were present—Dr. Thomas Blaney, chairman, Sir Frank Souter, Kt., C. S. I., Mr. Douglas, Dr. Cook, Messrs. M. N. Banajee, Nowrojee Furdoonjee, Dosabhoy Framjee, C. S. I., Raghunath Narayen Khote, F. C. Gangjee, R. M. Sayani, and the Hon'ble Rao Saheb V. N. Mandlik, C. S. I. The seal of the Corporation was affixed to a deed of conveyance from Cowasjee Sorabjee Bhedwar of ground taken up for the improvement of Gowalla Tank-Road; also to a deed of contract with Moosabhoy Adumjee for the supply of stationery during 1881. Sanction was given to a transfer of Rs. 151 to meet the amount of batta to clerks employed in attending printing offices for checking the proofs of the assessment-book for 1880. The Council sanctioned the acceptance by the Commissioner of a tender from Messrs. J. Cruddas and Co. for the supply of two steam-rollers; from Esmailjee Cassumbhoy and Co. for the supply of petty stores and hardware for 1881 at schedule rates; from Nanabhoy Vulleebhoy and Co. for the supply of hay at Rs. 9-4 per 1,000 lbs., green grass at Rs. 5 per 1,000 lbs., and rice-straw at Rs. 6-8 per 1,000 lbs. to the meat-van bullocks at Bandora. Government resolution dated 19th ult., confirming the bye-laws for regulating the admission of visitors to the Municipal gardens, was submitted by the Commissioner, and ordered to be recorded. A petition was forwarded to Government some time ago from Mahomedan inhabitants of Bombay, praying that the increase in the water-rate to religious buildings, namely, six annas per 1,000 gallons, might not be extended to their mosques. In reply, Government informed the petitioners that, as regards liability to pay water-rates, there was no reason why any distinction should be drawn between Mahomedan and other places of worship, and that, as the Municipality had lately reduced the rate on water supplied at places of worship to one-quarter of the regular rate, there did not seem to be any good ground of complaint. The Government resolution was yesterday communicated to the Town Council through the Municipal Commissioner, and was recorded. The Council next proceeded with the consideration of amendments proposed in the Municipal Acts for submission hereafter to the Bombay Legislative Council.

FIFTH CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

(Before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice BAYLEY.)

NINTH DAY, TUESDAY, Nov. 30.

CHEATING.

Motichund Bhimjee was again placed at the bar, charged with cheating in respect of a Government promissory-note for Rs. 1,000, which by false representation he induced one Vallajee Narayen to deliver to him. The prisoner was defended by Mr. Budroodin, Mr. Russel prosecuting. Several witnesses were examined for the prosecution. The [illegible] then adjourned until to-morrow (Thursday) 10 a. m. (Before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice WEST)

AN APPLICATION IN LUNACY.

IN THE MATTER OF PURSHOTUM GOCULDAS.

Mr. Brown, of Messrs. Hore, Conroy, and Brown, on behalf of Khimjee Goculdas, a brother of the alleged lunatic, who has filed a suit against him in the High Court, applied to have the abovenamed person adjudged a lunatic. Mr. Jardine, instructed by Messrs. Smith and Frere, appeared for the lunatic. Dr. Anna Moreshwur Kunte was examined as to the state of mind of Purshotum Goculdas. His Lordship reported upon the evidence that the man is a lunatic, and appointed Mr. W. Adams, Deputy Registrar, a committee of the lunatic's person. Later on, in the court, Mr. Jardine, on behalf of the insolvent, moved that Mr. Adams be appointed a guardian ad litem, with commission at 5 per cent., to come out of the lunatic's separate estate, if any. Mr. Lang, instructed by Messrs. Hore, Conroy, and Brown, for the plaintiff in the case abovementioned, consented to the proposed appointment, which his Lordship made. Costs of the application to come out of the separate estate of the lunatic and defendant, if any: if not, to be charged to the general family estate.

MADRAS.

TUG OF WAR.—A challenge, it is said, has been received and accepted by the Madras Volunteer Guards from the Duke's Own Volunteer Artillery for a trial of strength in this way, which is to come off on Saturday evening next at 4 o'clock. A local prophet predicts that the "dead weights" in the "Duke's Own" will win. The Volunteer Band will be in attendance.—Madras Times.

VOLUNTEER CAMP OF EXERCISE.—The camp of exercise for the Madras Volunteer Guards which was proposed to be held during the Christmas holidays has fallen through. The local Government object to sanction the expenditure of a camp of exercise so soon after the one held at Guindy in March last. Probably the camp will be held during the Easter holidays.—Id.

THE WEATHER AND THE CROPS.—A few months ago the Coimbatore District was threatened with a water famine; now, the Ooty paper says, the rain has been so heavy and so continuous that the whole country is under water, and serious injury to the standing crops is apprehended. The numerous tanks for which this district is famous, have all been filled almost entirely from surface drainge.

THE MAHOMEDAN ENTERTAINMENT TO THE DUKE.—This entertainment is to come off this evening at [illegible] Baugh. At 7-30 p. m., there is to be dinner —[illegible] the Duke, the Ladies Grenville and the Auz[illegible] dies and gentlemen and at 9-30 o'clock to His Gra[illegible] nautch party. The children about ninety la[illegible] schools are to be allowed a there is to be a gra[illegible] ur of the Duke.—Madras of all the Mahomedan [illegible] holiday to-day in hono[illegible] Times, Nov. 29.

VOLUNTEER PRIZE SHOOTI[illegible].—Colonel T. Ross Church, Commandant Madras [illegible] Volunteer Guards, presented the Rifle Club members [illegible] with five money prizes, which were competed for [illegible] on Saturday morning at the Saint Thome Butts, [illegible] distance two [illegible] range, and five hundred yards, 7 shots at ea[illegible]. There were twenty competitors, Colonel Church and Captain Anthony being present to watch the shooting. The first prize was taken by fifty-six points out of a possible seventy, which was considered a good score, considering the many disadvantages; a strong wind was blowing over the range from east, accompanied by rain, and the men fired lying on their stomachs according to regulations. The following are the successful competitors:—1st prize, Colour Sergeant James, 56 points, Rs. 10; 2nd prize, Corporal W. Smith, 53 points, Rs. 7; 3rd prize, Vol. R. Coombes, 50 points, Rs. 5; 4th prize, Corpl. Lambury, 49 points, Rs. 5; 5th prize, Serjt. Instructor Johnson, 47 points, Rs. 5.—Id.

H. G. THE DUKE AND H. H. THE PRINCE OF ARKOT.—His Highness Intizamool Moolk Bahadur, Prince of Arcot, on the afternoon of Wednesday last, paid a visit of ceremony to His Grace the Duke of Bukingham and Chandos, and His Grace, on the afternoon of Saturday last, returned the visit. A deputation consisting of Mr. Ahmed Mohideen Khan Bahadur, Chief Secretary to His Highness, and three of the sons-in-law of His Highness waited upon His Grace at Government House and conducted His Grace to the "Amir Mahal," where His Grace was received by His Highness. His Grace was accompanied by Captain Hankin, Captain Gordon and Captain English, and Major Baynes, the Political Officer, was present. On His Grace's arrival at, and departure from, the "Amir Mahal" a salute of seventeen guns was fired both from His Highness's battery and from the battery in the Fort. His Grace remained for nearly half an hour at the Prince's residence and had a most cordial conversation with His Highness.—Id.

N. W. PROVINCES, OUDH, AND PUNJAB.

DEATH OF A KOHAT CHIEF.—We regret to learn of the death at Lahore of Mahomed Amin Khan, Khan Bahadur, of Gandiam. This Chief, who had come in to the Lahore Darbar, was a man of considerable importance in the Upper Miranzai Valley, Kohat District, where he did excellent service, and worked heartily in the interests of Government under General Roberts and Colonel Waterfield. The local officers and the Punjab Government have good reason to regret his death. The Khan's body has been taken by his relatives to Kohat for interment.—Civil and Military Gazette.

THE PUNJAB COMMISSION.—The following promotions have been made in the Punjab Commission, vice Colonel A. A. Munro, retired:—To be Commissioner, Mr. G. Elsmine; to be Civil and Session Judge, Peshawar, Mr. D. G. Barkley; to be Deputy Commissioner, 1st Class, Colonel F. M. Birch. The place of the last-named officer in the ranks of Deputy Commissioner of the 2nd Class will be filled by Major L. J. H. Grey, C. S. I., on return from furlough.—Pioneer.

SHOAL SOUTH-WEST OF BARREN ISLANDS.

THE FOLLOWING ACCOUNT has been recently PUBLISHED by the Spanish Government—on the authority of D. Francisco Viñes, Captain of the Corvette Rosa del Juria—of the existence of a detached shoal lying south-west of Barren islands, west coast of Madagascar, nearly 50 miles distant from that group:—

This danger (Bajo del Vines) was sighted from the Rosa del Juria at 10 a.m. on 22nd December, 1871, bearing to the west-south-west, distant about 1½ miles—the vessel being then in 11 fathoms over sand and shells. On nearing it to the distance of about half a mile, the depth of 3½ fathoms over coarse sand was obtained. Captain Viñes then landed on the bank, and describes it as being composed of sand, almost circular, about 11 yards in diameter, and to dry about 2 feet at low water, with 1⅞ fathoms at the distance of half a cable around.

Position, as given, lat. 18° 51′ 30″ S., long. 43° 1′ 25″ E.
